What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small file of letters and numbers that we store on your browser or the hard drive of your computer. When you visit our site, strictly necessary cookies will be placed on your device. You can change the cookie settings that will be placed when you visit our website by changing the settings on your browser or by visiting the Cookie Preference Centre by clicking on the button at the bottom of this policy.

Key concepts

First and third-party cookies: whether a cookie is 'first' or 'third' party refers to the domain placing the cookie. First-party cookies are those set by a website that is being visited by the user at the time (e.g. cookies placed by our website).

Third-party cookies are cookies that are set by a domain other than that of the website being visited by the user. If a user visits a website and another entity sets a cookie through that website, this would be a third-party cookie.

Persistent cookies: these cookies remain on a user's device for the period of time specified in the cookie. They are activated each time that the user visits the website that created that particular cookie.

Session cookies: these cookies allow website operators to link the actions of a user during a browser session. A browser session starts when a user opens the browser window and finishes when they close the browser window. Session cookies are created temporarily. Once you close the browser, all session cookies are deleted.

How to delete and block our cookies

You can change your cookie preferences when you visit our website by going to the Cookie Preference Centre by clicking on the button at the bottom of this policy. You can also block cookies by activating the setting on your browser that allows you to refuse the setting of all or some cookies. Changing your cookie settings

You can change your cookie settings by going to the Cookie Preference Centre by clicking on the button at the bottom of this policy.

Please note that internet browsers allow you to change your cookie settings. These settings are usually found in the 'options' or 'preferences' menu of your internet browser. We respect the privacy of visitors using the Kuala Lumpur Kepong Berhad and associated sites or pages (our "websites"). The websites are managed by Kuala Lumpur Kepong Berhad, with its registered address at Wisma Taiko, No. 1, Jalan S.P. Seenivasagam, 30000 Ipoh, Perak Darul Ridzuan, Malaysia (hereinafter, "we" or "us"), which acts as data controller in relation to personal data eventually collected through the use of cookies on the websites.

This cookie policy provides you with clear and comprehensive information about the cookies we use and the purposes for using them.

To review the privacy policy that apply to visitors of our websites, and obtain further information on the processing of your personal data carried out by us, including on privacy rights and how to exercise them, please see our Group Privacy Policy KLK-Group-Privacy-Policy.pdf.

Our website uses cookies, in combination with pixels, local storage objects, and similar devices (collectively, "cookies" unless otherwise noted) to distinguish you from other users of the website.

You do not need to allow cookies to visit most of the website. However, enabling cookies may allow for a more tailored browsing experience and is required for certain parts of the website to work. In the majority of cases, a cookie does not provide us with any of your personal information.

For further information about this policy, please contact us at privacy@klk.com.my.

Key concepts

Cookies may be distinguished by the following criteria:

a) based on who manages cookies

▪ First and third-party cookies: whether a cookie is 'first' or 'third' party refers to the domain placing the cookie. First-party cookies are those set by a website that is being visited by the user at the time (e.g. cookies placed by our website).

▪ Third-party cookies are cookies that are set by a domain other than that of the website being visited by the user. If a user visits a website and another entity sets a cookie through that website, this would be a third-party cookie.

b) based on the time they remain enabled

▪ Persistent cookies: these cookies remain on a user's device for the period of time specified in the cookie. They are activated each time that the user visits the website that created that particular cookie.

▪ Session cookies: these cookies allow website operators to link the actions of a user during a browser session. A browser session starts when a user opens the browser window and finishes when they close the browser window. Session cookies are created temporarily. Once you close the browser, all session cookies are deleted.

c) based on the purpose

▪ Technical cookies: these cookies are necessary to allow the user to browse the website and to benefit from its functionalities. If strictly necessary for the use of the website, these cookies do not require the user's prior consent and cannot be switched off. In this case, technical cookies are also named "strictly necessary cookies". Instead, where technical cookies enable certain functionalities and services, enhancing the website, they are called "functional cookies". In any case, without these cookies some services or functions could not be provided and the browsing of the website would not be easy and functional.

▪ Analytics cookies: these cookies are used to obtain statistical information, in an aggregate manner or not, on the number of users accessing the website and about how the website is used. For this reason, analytics are also known as "performance cookies" since they assess the overall performance and liking of the website by users. Where required by the applicable laws, if the user does not consent to these types of cookies, the data controller will not be able to improve the website based on information from the user's visit.

▪ Profiling or targeting cookies: these cookies are used to trace the user's profile in order to display advertisements on the website target on the basis of the user's interests, tastes and consumption habits. If the user does not consent to these types of cookies, he/she will experience less targeted advertising (but not less advertising overall).

Your consent

Strictly necessary cookies do not require your consent.

For performance, functionality, targeting and social media cookies, we request your consent before placing them on your device. You can give your consent by clicking on the appropriate button on the banner displayed to you, or by going to the Cookie Preference Centre. For this reason, when you access the website, a banner is displayed, informing you that (i) performance, functionality, targeting and social media cookies are used on the website and that (ii) by clicking on the cookie acceptance button, you consent to their use. Otherwise, you can decide which cookies to install on the website by clicking on the appropriate Cookie Preference Centre and selecting your preferences. If you consent to the installation of cookies, we will track your consent by means of a technical cookie. Thus, the cookie banner will not be shown to you again in case of subsequent visits to the website.

If you do not wish to give consent or wish to withdraw your consent to any performance, functionality, targeting or social media cookies at any time, you will need to delete, and block or disable cookies via your browser settings; see below for more information on how to do this or by changing your settings in the Cookie Preference Centre.

Please note that disabling these cookies will affect the functionality of the website and may prevent you from being able to access certain features on the website.
